

NLP Practitioner

We take the very best of what people do, synthesise it down, make it learnable and share it with each other.

Richard Bandler

Allen
Training
Associates

What is the NLP Practitioner programme?

This in-depth programme involves 18 days over 4 modules which will have a life-changing impact. It is certified by INLPTA, the world's most respected NLP governing body.

Why attend?

People participate in the NLP Practitioner programme for many different reasons:

- to build your skills to a professional standard and to continue your personal development journey
- to discover and share the mental outlook that successful people demonstrate
- to create, with integrity, a toolbox of your own to support your personal and professional goals and dreams
- to understand who you really are, and live the life you were born to live.

What will the course cover?

- Use advanced language patterns to better understand people - and to assist them in clarifying their thinking
- Learn advanced influencing methods to refine your ability to communicate with individuals and groups
- Recognise the precise mental and physical steps (or strategies) that you and others use to create difficulties (and successes) and change these steps when it is appropriate to do so
- Discover how to make your use of NLP a natural and 'seamless' part of how you run your life and how you interact with others
- Continue to make massive strides in your own personal journey, as well as learn strategies that will help you to help others with their own development
- Explore the application of NLP in your life and in your work.

How is the course delivered?

Our Practitioner programme is the original and thorough full-length training. Unlike some courses which offer so-called "accelerated learning" but then miss out on the richness of hands-on experience, we concentrate on equipping you both with the knowledge and theory of NLP, and also with the practical experience that gives you the confidence to use it when you leave the course.

We limit the number of participants in each programme to ensure that each person receives personal supervision from the tutors.

You will find the period between modules especially useful to practise your skills and reflect on your learning.

What if you participate in this programme?

Upon graduation you will be eligible for Graduate Membership of INLPTA and also Membership of ANLP.

The Practitioner certificate enables you to use NLP techniques for business or personal development, coaching and counselling.

The course is delivered in 4 separate modules. All 4 modules must be completed, unless you already hold a recognised NLP Diploma, in which case you may join the programme at Module 2.

Price:

All four modules:
£1,700 + VAT

Modules 2, 3 and 4:
£1,200 + VAT

Early Bird Discount:

Book on any Diploma or Practitioner programme at least 3 months before the course start date, and we will reduce the fee by £100.

Location:

The NLP Practitioner will normally be held at our own rural venue in the picturesque village of Ceres, in the Kingdom of Fife. We can help you to arrange accommodation in a local hotel or B&B. Courses are also sometimes held in Edinburgh

For more information, please contact:

0845 094 2490
www.allentraining.co.uk madeleine@allentraining.co.uk
www.nlpedinburgh.co.uk

Madeleine Allen
Allen Training Associates
1 St Colme Street
Edinburgh
EH3 6AA

2011 Course Dates:

Spring

Module 1: 17-20 February
(leads to NLP diploma)

Module 2: 16-20 March
Module 3: 13-17 April
Module 4: 12-15 May

Winter

Module 1: 8-11 September
(leads to NLP diploma)

Module 2: 5-9 October
Module 3: 2-6 November
Module 4: 1-4 December

For later dates,
please contact us.